

Dawn Blossoms Plucked at Dusk (Collected Contrasting Texts) (Refine) (Chinese Edition)

Lu Xun is a great Chinese writer and a world-class master of literature in the twentieth Century. Dawn Blossoms Plucked at Dusk is the only one collection of prose works in Lu Xun's writing career, which includes ten prose works. The first five are written in Beijing while the other five are written in Xiamen. According to Lu Xun, these ten prose works are notes of memories, which comparatively completely record his life experience and thinking venation from his childhood to youth, and vividly depict a picture of social scenes in the late Qing Dynasty and the early Republic of China. It is important information for the research of Lu Xun's early thought and life. These works can not only help readers taste and study Lu Xun's superb literary attainments, but also let people truly feel the literary masters' wisdom and calm. We can draw wisdom from this book, get ideological inspiration, obtain rich life experience and improve literary attainments.
