

The Last Time They Met

At a literary festival, a poet named Linda Fallon meets, for the first time in years, fellow poet Thomas Janes, whose fame has grown during a decade of seclusion. This is no chance meeting, however, since Thomas saw where Linda was scheduled to appear and chose that moment to re-establish contact with the woman he passionately pursued years earlier, in an affair that ended disastrously. As the story moves backward, it examines the extraordinary resonance a single choice, even a single word, can have over the course of a lifetime.
