

Life Preserved: Memories: An Anthology

A life preserved in memories touches all readers. We're celebrating selected writers this year who hail from hometown Warrenton, North Carolina as far away as India. These talented writers and poets are in various stages of development, ranging from first time published, to those highly respected in the literary community. They chose to share their special memories, some delicate and heart rending, some with humor, in poetic and prose forms for you, the reader. Memories are what we hold dear; to share them is a particular gift to the reader. Memories, like people, come in all shapes and sizes, from different cultures, with the commonality that each writer has been touched deeply enough to record it, because it was an important moment. Fifty-two writers have gathered here to share these moments with the world, presented to you by The Warren Artists Market (WAM) founder, Thomas Haywood Park M.F.A. and Arlene Sandra Bice, editors.
